ABSTRACT

The present invention is based on a novel method for encapsulating in liposomes substantially water immiscible carotenoids. Therefore, there are provided by the present invention formulations comprising liposomes loaded with an amount of at least one water immiscible carotenoid, pharmaceutical compositions comprising such a formulation, and a method for preparing the liposomes loaded with said carotenoid.